Police chief to continue

Parente chosen as new GC fire chief

By HARRY BARNE'S
Press-Record Staff Writer

Appointment of Don Parente as chief of the Granite City Fire Department, and reappointment of Ronald Veizer as chief of the police department, were announced today by Mayor-Elect Paul Schuler who will take office as mayor tomorrow.

The two appointments were among 11 made known by the new mayor this morning. The appointments are expected to be confirmed by the City Council in a special meeting called for 8 p.m. Tuesday.

The special meeting call was issued for the purpose of city administrative reorganization to begin the new terms of office of city officials elected April 3 and the beginning of the city's 1973-74 fiscal year.

Schuler also announced the appointment of three new members of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners.

They are George Becker, a business representative of the Granite City sub-district of the United Steelworkers of America, Homer "Cal" Pendleton, a railroad employee and former city clerk, and Elmer Miller, operator of the Granite City News Co.

Other appointments announced today include:

Mrs. Flora Worthen as personal secretary to Mayor Schuler in the mayor's office at City Hall, replacing Marabeth McConnell who has resigned.

Ernest Eli, a retired Granite City Steel Co. employee and a former member of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, as city inspector, replacing Lawrence Druhe.

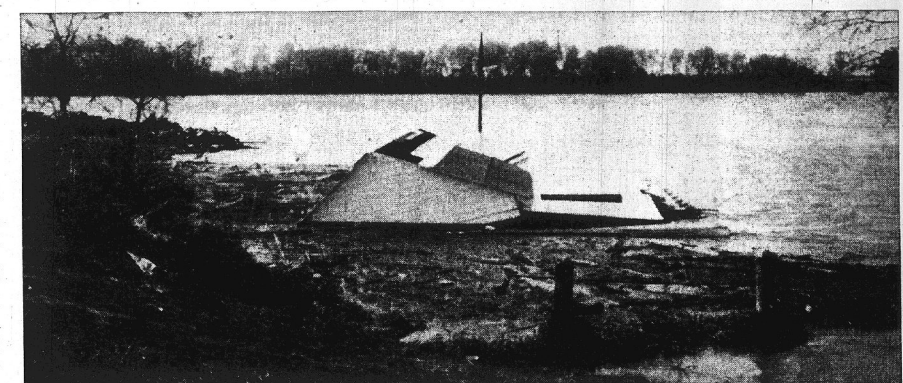

Flance Warfield as assistant city inspector to replace George Gordon.

William Dallas Jr., who has been a student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, as secretary in the inspector's office, replacing Marge Hall. Dallas is the son of First Ward Alderman William Dallas.

Robert Kelly, a retired Granite City Steel Co. employee, as building inspector, replacing Orville Deltour.

Judy Pieper as secretary in the detective bureau of the police department, replacing Laveria Russell.

Three new members of the fire and police board replace Ralph Elliott who has resigned, Warren Decatur, whose term expires, and Hetty Sheppard.

EXAMPLE OF FLOOD DAMAGE is this small frame home which was torn from its foundation and carried by swift current to a bank of the Chain of Rocks Road, where the house collapsed near the east base of the old Chain of Rocks Bridge. It is shown Friday afternoon amid floating debris.

3 robberies; man arrested

Three armed robberies occurred in the Quad-Cities Friday and Saturday. One suspect who was arrested later escaped from the Brooklyn jail.

An armed robbery suspect who allegedly took an undetermined amount of money from the Cut Rate Food Market, 1903 Fifth St., East Madison, at 1:15 p.m. Saturday, escaped from the jail at Brooklyn at 6 p.m. that day, the Madison County sheriff's office reported.

A warrant charging armed robbery has been issued for Michael Hudson, 19, Brooklyn. He was arrested at his home after county authorities obtained a description of an auto. Bond was set at $15,000.

The car is owned by another Brooklyn resident, who told deputies and Brooklyn police he had loaned it to a man who said he wanted to visit his father.

According to the report, who ever committed the robbery entered the store, ordered candy bars at the checkout counter, drew a small hand gun, took cash including a handful of nickels from the cash register, ordered the checkout clerk to walk to the back of the store and left.

A 1968 convertible auto was found at the home of the owner. No gun was found.

Authorities are looking for Hudson, who was described as being 5 feet, 11 inches tall, 125 pounds, with medium hair and a full beard trimmed short.

Two bandits escaped with $175 in an armed robbery of the K & R Confectionery, 1747 State St., it was reported at 10:50 p.m. Friday.

William Clark, proprietor of the store, said one of the men carrying a blue steel .38 caliber revolver walked over to him at the cash register and said, "Give me all of your money."

He said he complied and they left in a late model light green auto which contained a third man. A search was made by police.

One of the robbers was described as being 6 feet, thin and wearing a dark sweater and trousers. The other was

Young man robs drug store today

A red-haired man, about 20 years old, robbed Gasen's Drug Store in Nameoki Village Shopping Center at gunpoint at 9:10 a.m. today, and was last seen walking in the direction of the Grant City store in the same shopping complex.

The man entered the store 10 minutes after it opened for business.

He placed a .38 caliber snub-nosed revolver against the back of an assistant store manager, forcing him to open the safe and remove cash from two compartments, police said.

The money was hidden in a brown paper bag. No immediate estimate was given on the amount of cash taken in the robbery.

Described as about 5 feet, 6 inches tall, weighing 125 to 135 pounds, the robber was wearing a yellow knit shirt, rust colored sweater and gold trousers.

His red hair was cut flat on top and collar length at the back.

He was in need of a shave and his face was slightly freckled, witnesses said.

Upgrade Pontoon police

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

The Pontoon Beach Village Police Department became a full-time professional department for the first time Thursday night as the new Village Board named a fifth full-time patrolman and discharged five volunteer officers.

Nealy "Chet" Ballew, volunteer officer, was granted a $7,500 per year salary as the village's fifth full-time officer, effective immediately. The selection of Ballew was suggested by the village's Chief of Police Rosewell Bennett Jr.

The new Village Board President Floyd David Moss said the change is in line with one of his campaign promises — to upgrade the police department.

Dr. Dean Rochester, a holdover board member who did not support Moss's party in the April 17 village election, objected to the change saying the old board could not find the money to hire a fifth officer.

"I would hate to see us go down in the red and we could do that very fast with the police department," Rochester said.

"In the last few months, the general fund was running dry and we were transferring funds, we could not have afforded this man a few months ago," he added.

Moss said that with the removal of the $10 per month clothing allowance for each of the five volunteers as well as other costs, the salary "will not increase your budget much."

Moss charged that the old board spent $5,200 from the general fund last year that should have been taken from the motor fuel tax fund. "That is why the general fund ran dry," he said.

Rochester also objected to not having seen an application or other papers on Ballew before the vote to promote him was taken.

Raymond Gaudette Jr., chairman of the new police committee, said his committee studied the qualifications of Ballew. "He is a most experienced policeman and as chairman of the police committee, I put his name in nomination."

Rochester abstained on the voting "for lack of information." The nomination was approved five to nothing with the abstention.

Holdover trustee Loren Madison was absent.

Rochester also objected to action by Moss last week in calling for the resignations of all village appointed officials so their qualifications could be reviewed and new appointments made. "I object that you asked for the resignations before you even president of the board," he told Moss.

Of village officials who submitted resignations, all were respected except Treasurer Mrs. Loretta Skinner, and the zoning board secretary, Mrs. Marian Henderson.

Mrs. Skinner resigned so that her husband, Dwayne Skinner, could assume the treasurer's duties. The resignation was accepted but she was asked to continue in the post until the annual audit of the records, due this month, has been completed. Her husband was appointed assistant treasurer at no salary.

Mrs. Henderson's job was eliminated. Her husband, Jerry

Biggest flood ever begins to recede slowly

Flooding of unprecedented volume and height still holds the St. Louis metropolitan area in its grip, the water so far receding only slowly from a record Mississippi River crest of 43.1 feet reached at 9 p.m. Saturday.

Today's 42.8 reading had dropped to 42.6 feet late this morning. There is hope that the drop will accelerate by mid-week, reaching the basic "full" level of 30 feet by May 13, or slightly later if there is much rain.

The Quad-City area remains out of danger by a comfortable margin.

Chouteau Island, the area between the Chain of Rocks Canal and the Mississippi River, flooded April 25 and remains under water, with many homes and sheds covered to the roof level. The canal serves as the actual river channel in this region.

The Army Corps of Engineers floodwall on the Missouri side is credited with saving St. Louis but there are many flooded areas there and in St. Louis County, and there is severe flood damage in St. Charles County, Mo.

Thousands of sightseers drove across the Interstate 270 bridge Saturday and Sunday, slowing traffic to a crawl. Illinois state troopers were stationed along the route from Highway Three to the river bridge to keep traffic moving.

On the Missouri side, state police prevented sightseers from continuing north along flooded Riverview Drive from I-270.

Water was pouring back over the levee at tremendous speed from flooded areas yesterday. The current in the river remained strong.

The flooded dwellings silently but eloquently told the story of the havoc wrought by the flood, attributed to unusual amounts and timing of rain here and to the north last fall and this spring.

The Salvation Army here has

Woman in tavern shot by boy, 5

Mrs. Dorothy Legate, 37, of 2804 Willow Ave., was shot through the neck while she was sitting at the end of the bar at Myrtle's Tavern, 20th Street and Washington Avenue, at 7:35 p.m. Thursday.

She was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was listed in satisfactory condition.

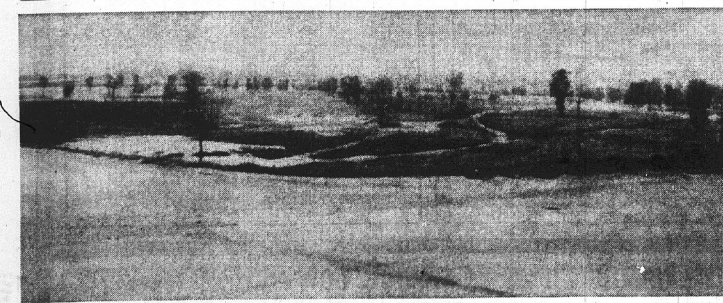

Glenn Morgan, 25, of 2622 Denver St., the bartender, said his son, 5, was behind the bar with him and had the gun when it discharged.

The bullet struck Mrs. Legate in the right side of the neck, exited from the other side and struck wall paneling.

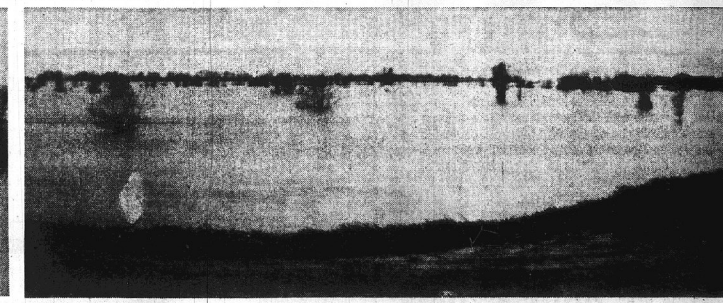

Police said the gun is owned by Jack Moad, operator of the establishment, and was kept behind the bar. Police closed the tavern for the night.

"How do I love Thee? Let me count the ways," is the first line of a famous sonnet by Elizabeth Barrett Browning. Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning knew they were in love when they first met after several months of correspondence about their work. However, certain obstacles stood in the way before the two poets could marry. Miss Barrett was an invalid and her father kept her secluded and protected from the outside world.

A year and a half after their first meeting, they met and married happily and they fled England for Italy to escape the fury of Elizabeth's father. Although, they had no idea how long Elizabeth would live when they left England, Italy and were good doctors for her. She had fifteen years of happiness with Robert. Her famous love poems written to her husband are all collected in the book Sonnets from the Portuguese.

Dr. Hazen is selected as dental school dean

Dr. Stanley P. Hazen of Farmington, Conn., will be recommended as the new dean of the School of Dental Medicine of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Dr. John S. Rendleman, SIUE president, said late Thursday.

Appointment of Dr. Hazen, professor and head of the Department of Periodontology, of the University of Connecticut School of Dental Medicine, will be subject to the approval of the SIUE Board of Trustees, Dr. Rendleman said. The trustees will meet May 11 in Carbondale.

If approved, the appointment will be effective Sept. 1. Dr. Frank J. Sobkowski, who has been dean of the SIUE School of Dental Medicine since February 1969, will continue to serve in that position until September. At that time, he will devote full time to his new duties as special assistant to President Rendleman for health education.

Dr. Hazen has held his present position since 1970. His prior experience includes serving as professor and director of graduate and postgraduate studies and chairman of postgraduate periodontology, Temple University, Philadelphia; as associate professor and chairman of the Department of Periodontology, State University of New York at Buffalo; and as associate, Department of Periodontology, Eastman Dental Center, Rochester, N. Y.

Dr. Hazen served in the U. S. Navy Dental Corps from 1953 to 1957. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Macalester College, St. Paul, Minn., and the doctor of dental surgery degree from the University of Minnesota.

He also holds a master of science degree from the University of Rochester and a certificate in periodontology from the Eastman Dental Center, Rochester, N. Y. He was named a diplomate by the American Board of Periodontology in 1967.

Dr. Hazen has served as chairman of the section of advanced education of the American Association of Dental Schools and chairman of the committee on foreign relations and the education committee of the American Academy of Periodontology.

He is the author or co-author of numerous publications, including 14 abstracts and 23 professional papers. In addition, Dr. Hazen has served as a consultant to the Veterans Administration Out-Patient Clinic in Philadelphia, Veterans Administration hospitals in Wilmington, Del., and Buffalo, N. Y., and Meyer Memorial in Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Hazen is married to the former Evelyn Edwards, and they are the parents of seven children.

they are the parents of seven children.

Dr. Sobkowski was named special assistant to the SIUE president for health education in January. He is credited with developing the first dental school in Illinois and accomplishing the task in record time.

The first class of dental students began at the local university's Alton center in September, three years after establishment of the School of Dental Medicine was approved by the SIUE Board. According to dental authorities, it normally requires at least seven years to establish a new dental school.

Explaining Dr. Sobkowski's new role as special assistant for health education, Dr. Rendleman said, "Because of the university's growing involvement in the health, education field, I need the services of someone who is an expert in health education and can advise the university administration on this increasingly important aspect of our academic program."

Reports from the building committee and on the need for a new facility were heard. An attorney was engaged to give legal advice on a proposed plan.

Workshop director Linda Mills reported that the First National Bank in Madison was helpful selling Easter pillows made by the handicapped workers, with $68 worth of pillows sold.

The Illinois Supreme Court will permit county treasurers throughout the state to resume the flow of personal property tax refunds for the 1971 tax year.

Miss Delores Meade is married at St. Paul's

Miss Delores Diane Meade became the bride of Gary Louis Schlechte in a ceremony performed April 6 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Hamel, Ill. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Meade of Worden, Ill.

The bride was dressed in white polyester organza, re-embroidered with Alencon lace. A raised waist topped the A-line silhouette skirt and the bodice was fashioned with a high neckline and long bishop sleeves.

Delicate organza ruffling accented the front and sides of the gown and encircled the hemline. The detachable court train was bordered with organza ruffles and she wore a half-hat of lace to secure a veil of bridal illusion mist.

Her flowers were a mixture of white carnations and white roses festooned with ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Becky Page, an aunt of the bride, was matron of honor and the only attendant. She selected a pale green polyester dress overlaid with organza.

The bodice was designed with a high waistline, stand-up collar and long sleeves. Embroidered ribbon etched the cuffs, collar and waist of the dress, and she held a bouquet of carnations in pastel shades tied with long streamers.

Mike Pernicka served the bridegroom as best man. Seating the guests were John Kulenkamp and Alan Fuchs.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her uncle, Frank Stefank of Belleville, the former Miss Babic chose for her wedding a gown fashioned of Gardinia white silk organza enhanced with medallions of beaded Alencon lace.

Designed on semi-princess lines, the dress was made with a fitted bodice, featuring a Victorian neckline, long bishop sleeves with petal points over the hands and a crescent waistline.

The floor-length skirt was accented at the hemline with a wide scalloped border of lace, etched with pearls.

A formal train of tulle was edged in matching lace and she carried a cascade of stephanotis, orchids, sprays of baby breath and lily of the valley.

Attendants, Misses Rita and Susan Rameck, both sisters of the bride, Mrs. R. Scott Hayes, the groom's sister, Misses Peggy and Sandy Mauch, Mrs. Gerald Gas and the junior bridesmaids, Miss Shelly Opich, the bride's cousin, were identical full-length dresses.

Their frocks were created of camellia pink organza with fitted bodices, oval ruffled necklines and long full sleeves.

A sash in pink and white petit point, terminating in a tailored bow, defined the waistlines. They wore white straw hats trimmed with pink ribbon to complement their frocks.

Each girl held a nosegay of pink and white daisies.

The flower girl was Julie Hayes, a niece of the groom, and the ringbearer was David Stefank, the bride's cousin.

Cuts in EOC funds to cause economic impact

John Q. Owens Jr., chairman of the board of directors of the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission, has assailed proposed budget cuts in the Office of Economic Opportunity funds and the "economic impact" in the county.

"I feel constrained to let the people of Madison County, both in public and private life, know of the economic impact on our county if this (proposed budget cut) is accomplished. The report speaks for itself," the chairman stated.

Curtailment of EOC programs in Madison County would result in the following losses, Owens said:

Loss of wages and loss of purchasing power, amounting to $329,622, for 48 individuals including 20 low-income persons whose family members include 122 children.

Loss of wages to Neighborhood Youth Corps participants (550 in-school and out-of-school) $343,616; federal taxes (payroll deductions)—$75,577; state taxes (payroll deductions)—$6,691.

Programs and services to low income communities — $808,268 and social security benefits — $16,733.

Aid to Dependent Children or welfare payments if families do not find work for one year (based on $310 per month and including 11 single parent families) — $40,820; unemployment compensation (employees x $50 a week x 26 weeks)—$62,400; and welfare payments if total staff were unemployed for one year based at $310 per month) — $178,560.

In addition, Owens said, the county would lose 59 part-time foster grandparents at $136 per month—$8,024.

The county anti-poverty agency has furnished 25,531 services to 4,720 families in the past year, the EOC director said.

At the Family Planning Clinic in Granite City a total of 413 services has been provided for 369 patients.

Reduction in EOC funds also would eliminate the Well Baby Clinic in Madison, where a total of 1,229 visits was recorded in slightly over two years time, and day care services for 90 children at Trehouse East likewise would be canceled, Owens noted.

State asking land owners to help destroy wild marijuana

With the advent of the growing season, the Illinois Bureau of Investigation Friday called for cooperation by land owners in the destruction of marijuana, or wild hemp, growing on their property.

Law Enforcement Director Harvey N. Johnson Jr. said, "In 1969, the legislature placed the responsibility on the land owner for destroying the drug by classifying it a 'noxious weed.'"

"If farmers and land owners do not destroy it, county weed commissioners or the state will have to do it and bill the owner for the cost."

Marijuana, which grows wild in many northern and central counties of Illinois, begins to appear in late April and early May and seeds in late summer.

The plant, whose stem was used in manufacturing rope-making materials in World War II, now grows as a common weed along ditch banks, railroad beds and roadsides and in pastures.

The marijuana plant has long, saw-toothed leaves. The plant, when fully grown, reaches a height of two to four feet.

The flowers are a greenish yellow, with compound leaves, palmate in shape, five to 11 in a group.

State, county and township officials are responsible for destroying marijuana along roadsides, but the FBI, Johnson said, is looking to farmers to

In Thursday's game here, the Warriors came close to tying the score in the final inning but stranded two men on base to give Belleville East the 9-7 win.

East's Lancers started the scoring with a run in the second inning. Each team scored two in the fourth inning but Belleville then opened its lead to four as three runners crossed the plate in the fifth. The Warriors gained in the sixth, scoring three runs while allowing Belleville East two. The Lancers scored their final run in the top half of the seventh, followed by two runs for Granite City.

The Lancers had 11 hits. They committed two errors. The Warriors collected eight hits and made seven errors.

Greg Linhart and Steve Ashby each had two hits for the Warriors. The losing pitcher was Mark Boone.

The Warriors are scheduled to play at Belleville East today and will host Collinsville Wednesday and Assumption Thursday.

A good day and a bad day for GCHS golfers

Granite City High School golfers came from a slump Thursday afternoon into one of their best matches this year Friday. "They just had a bad day Thursday but now they are starting to play some real golf," Coach Harry Lane commented during the weekend.

The Warriors needed 192 strokes for their top four scorers to complete nine holes at the Locust Hills Golf Course at Lebanon on Thursday. Edwards was the victor with a one-under par team score of 143 strokes. Lebanon was second at 189.

"We required more strokes (192) for four players Thursday than our top five needed (189) Friday," Lane added.

The Warriors with 189 strokes topped the 184 of Collinsville and the 220 of East St. Louis, Friday. The match was to have been played at East St. Louis but was switched to the Camelot Golf Course in Collinsville because the East St. Louis course was closed.

Bill Skirball shot the first par round of the year, a 35 Friday on the Camelot links, to lead the double victory. Other Warrior scores counted were Tim Beltrami with 37, Clay Winfield 38, Don Gresco 38 and Mark Harrison 40. Brad Bichhaus' 41 was out of the counting.

Two other Warriors played Friday but were not in the match because East St. Louis brought only six golfers. Rick Bohannan shot a one-over par 38 and Bruce Lattimore carded 45.

At Lebanon Thursday, Gresco shot 45, Winfield had 47, Behrens carded 48 and Lattimore had 52.

The 16-year-old Granite City swimmer smashed the 1,650-yard (one-mile) national record in a time of 17:43.2. The old record was 18:23. She also broke the 400-yard individual medley record with a time of 4:45. The former record was 4:49.2. The third gold medal came as a member of the Jets' top-ranked relay squad which won 8:03.2 to set a new national mark.

In her third individual effort at the final big indoor meet of the winter season, Miss Reisinger set a heart-breaking race in the 500-yard free-style event by 4/100th of a second, to finish in second place, her father reported. East St. Louis won the event with 62 points. Summer was second with 59, one point ahead of the Warriors' 58.

Dwayne Terry won the two-mile event in 10:02. Rodney Flood was first in the shot put with 43-3 and Robert Sampson won the pole vault at 12-2.

The distance medley was won by Warriors John Billello, Greg Ahlers, Jim Hall and Dwayne Terry.

Second places were taken by Ed Opich in the discus and by the mile relay team.

MHS second in track Thursday by 2 points

Madison High School placed second in a triangular track meet Thursday, losing to Assumption by two points and literally by one-tenth of a second.

Assumption collected 35 points, Madison 33 and Columbia 31. The Madison Trojans won five events but lost the crucial one, the mile relay, to Assumption.

"That would have made the whole difference in the meet," Coach Charles Stepien of Madison commented after the event.

The Trojans and Assumption were side-by-side in the final stretch but Assumption's anchor man gave a final kick at the finish line to break the tape at 3:25.6 while Madison finished at 3:25.7.

Top honors were earned by Trojans Chris Stanley in the high hurdles with 16.2 seconds and the 180-yard high hurdles in 22.6 seconds, Mike Turner in the 440-yard dash in 58 seconds.

The team will compete against Roxana and O'Fallon at 4 p.m. today at O'Fallon.

Thompson funny car tops Pro-Am field

Dale Pulde at the wheel of Mickey Thompson's Grand-Am Pontiac funny car won the $2,000 grand prize after three days of competition in the Pro-Am Nationals of drag racing last week at St. Louis International Raceway south of Madison.

The Thompson car won four consecutive runs yesterday afternoon, the fastest at 6.7 seconds on the quarter-mile, finishing at 212.28 miles-per-hour.

In the semi-final run, he defeated the Kenny Bernstein funny car but cracked the top of the fiberglass body in the race.

His crew rapidly riveted a piece of aluminum to the top for the final event.

The culmination of the three days came as Thompson's car opposed "Rapid Runner" Runyon on the starting line for the championship. The "Rapid Runner" car broke off the starting line as the blower exploded, and Pulde had an easy ride for the money.

The event was marred by a fire which injured funny car driver Dick Custy, driver of the Whitted and Custy car.

During Saturday night's eliminations, Custy's car was blown into a ball of flame at 200 m.p.h.

Fire extinguishers in the car could not stop the flames which burned through Custy's shoulder harness. He jumped from the car, and the track personnel cut his fire suit from him.

He was taken by ambulance to Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, where he was admitted with burns to his back but was later released. The car burned for 45 minutes and was destroyed.

Mercer wins opener in Inter-City action

Mercer Mortuary, under the leadership of Wendell Cory, manager, won its opening game of the 1973 Illinois Inter-City Baseball League here Sunday by defeating Vans of East Alton 9-4.

Three reappointed to trustee posts

Lawrence Robinson, Keith Hart and Robert Lipscomb were reappointed to three-year trustee posts last week by the Nameoki Town Board of Auditors.

Robinson was reappointed to the State Park Street Lighting District board, Lipscomb was returned to the Bellemeade Manor Street Lighting District and Hart was named to the Long Lake Fire Protection District for three more years.

It was reported at the meeting that the town building committee will meet Saturday with architects to discuss whether to build a new town recreation and office building or to expand the present village hall.

Estimated costs for the two proposals will be given to the town auditors for consideration.

The new board rehired William Schooley as township attorney.

MHS students serve as acting city officials

Students in the American problems class of Dan Kostencki, teacher at Madison High School, participated in a student government day last week when they served as acting city officials.

They received a first-hand review of the operations of city government by their official counterparts, toured city facilities, had lunch with the officials and conducted a mock City Council meeting during the evening.

The students and their acting officers were Doug Forville, mayor; Robin Sanders, clerk; Jennifer Marsala, treasurer; Eddie Henderson and Carol Walker, First Ward aldermen; Andy Duko and Roger Glasper, Second Ward aldermen; Bill Weidner and Karen Koliste, Third Ward aldermen; Robert Dew and Debbie Forshee, Fourth Ward aldermen; Mike Turner and Sherrie Gilmore, Fifth Ward aldermen.

Vanessa Reed, comptroller; Weidner, police chief; Dave Michaels, fire chief; Debbie Forshee, superintendent of streets; Jamesetta Reed, corporation counsel; and Phillip Abernathy, city attorney.

Prior to the start of the mock council meeting, Mayor Mike Sasyk presented remarks on the status of the city, its programs and plans for the future. His comments follow:

"The question is sometimes asked, 'Why does a busy business man or any other person serve as a city official during this, the most frustrating period in the history of local government?' We are happy to serve as your mayor and councilmen because we sincerely believe we can help our City.

"Many cities say at the crossroads where they can go, either way, up the ladder or down.

"If we are to help our cities, we must face up to our problems and do something about them, because today, there are many changes that are taking place in our society.

"An honest, efficient, democratic government is absolutely necessary during this age but this is not enough. Our city is becoming old and we're handicapped because we do not have room for expansion.

"We must examine carefully what we can do and then do it. It is easier to prevent the decline of a city than to reverse trend once it gains momentum.

"In the City of Madison, we are going to have an extensive road rebuilding program in the property value of our city and city which will enhance the residents.

"Another step we have taken is the forming of a building and zoning commission to help us stop the deterioration and elimination of sub-standard buildings.

"Once our building and zoning commission is active, we will have neighborhood groups active and ask them to bring neighborhood pressure on property owners who have eyesores in the areas.

"We are trying to upgrade our commercial area but you know when you are trying to make radical changes you run into stiff opposition from persons who feel everything new today, is to benefit a few people, but this project will help the whole community. It will bring more sales tax, property tax and more employment.

"The city will be planning for the future of this area with help from advisors from our community and also professional help.

"Our industrial park, which was started by the late Stephen A. Maeras and many members of our council, has been successful. We hope to have information in the future which will take the remaining ground in our park.

"In mentioning these programs which are absolutely necessary to save our city, the biggest mistake a city official can make is to not listen and 'Look what we have done.' We must constantly look for new ways to revitalize our city and make present programs more effective.

"In the very near future we will be creating new positions and new programs which will be beneficial to our city.

"We are guardians not only of the tax money for which we are directly responsible but for the citizen's investment in our community for which we are indirectly responsible.

"Yes, there is much that we as city officials can and must do. I feel we should make it clear, however, that there are some matters over which we have no control.

New Orleans may give clues on control of river -- Koepke

The St. Louis' metropolitan area is unusually vulnerable to disastrous flooding because of the coincidence of two geographic factors, research in progress at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville indicates.

The bottom land around the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers near St. Louis is extensive; and, significantly, the level of urbanization in these bottoms is particularly heavy, earth scientists at the university have determined.

Robert L. Koepke, associate professor of earth sciences, is directing a team of graduate students in an investigation of flood plain areas on the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers. The research is complete for the Missouri and for that part of the Mississippi upriver from Cairo, Ill.

"The flood plain around St. Louis is broad," Dr. Koepke said, "and there is a large urban population — probably a quarter-million people — living down on the flood plain."

Most of this urbanization occurs, he said, on the Illinois side of the Mississippi River, in the area called the American Bottoms.

"The necessity to be concerned with high river water is going to be something which will continue to be a problem forever," Koepke said, "because of the geography of the area."

"There are only two alternatives; either you move, the quarter-million people living on the flood plain — and I don't think you're going to do that because the settlements are so urbanized and have been there so long, or you've got to protect them. If you don't protect this land," he said, "it's going to get wet."

Dr. Koepke said the St. Louis model of a broad and intensively urbanized flood plain is unique on the two rivers above Cairo.

"What we've discovered is that if you want to study how other urban areas meet the problems of flooding, you're going to have to look downstream, to a place like New Orleans, to find the answer."

The situation at St. Louis is not similar, he said, to the experiences of communities upstream.

"You don't have this situation — highly urbanized communities actually on the flood plain — in places like Council Bluffs, Iowa, or Omaha, Nebraska."

"And the Minneapolis-St. Paul solution just can't be applied here."

He said the Twin Cities have zoned their flood plain area along the Mississippi for non-residential use. "But at Minneapolis - St. Paul, the flood plain is very narrow; they can afford to set aside such a relatively small portion of land."

"At St. Louis, the flood plain is just too broad," he continued. "I would estimate the flood plain, including the American, Columbia and Missouri Bottoms, and the low land around Portage des Sioux, includes one-third to one-half of all the usable land in the region."

The biggest of these flood plains, the American Bottoms, includes such Illinois communities as East St. Louis, Granite City, Madison, Venice, Ponton Beach and Wood River.

Dr. Koepke said his team of researchers will begin next to investigate flood plains on the Mississippi downriver from Cairo.

"Many of the downriver communities, especially New Orleans, have urban areas on the flood plain," he said.

"We're going to have to learn more about them and how they meet problems of flooding, if we are to find solutions for this area."

New Kiwanis Club sets May 10 as charter day

The newly formed Granite City Kiwanis Breakfast Club has set May 10 as the date to reach its membership goal and receive a charter from Kiwanis International.

The club presently has 15 members, with five additional men needed to attain the 20 member requirement. Ray Grisham, chairman pro-tem, announced at its meeting last week.

Grisham said that Louis Enloe of Edwardsville, lieutenant governor of Kiwanis District 14, is making arrangements with Tom Trogon of Paris, Ill., governor of the Illinois - Eastern Iowa District, for a Kiwanis International representative to attend the May 10 meeting in person and issue the charter. The club was organized six weeks ago.

At last week's meeting in the Grant City lunch room in Nameoki Village Shopping Center, Robert Black, head librarian at the Granite City Public Library, was the guest speaker. Black reviewed the services available to library card holders, noting that best sellers or any published book can be obtained through the local library's affiliation with the Lewis and Clark Library System. Book requests can be filled fully 99.7% of the time from the system, he said.

Information on a variety of subjects is available at the local library and holders of a Granite City Library card are entitled to utilize the services of all libraries within the nine Illinois counties served by the Lewis and Clark System, Black said.

A short talk by Melvin Gillie, who described the programs offered by men's service clubs in the community, concluded the breakfast meeting.

State civil defense to be flood relief coordinator

Gov. Dan Walker on Thursday designated the Illinois Civil Defense agency as the state agency to coordinate with federal officials in the administration of federal flood relief programs.

Walker took the action immediately after President Nixon declared Illinois a major disaster area as a result of the millions of dollars of damage suffered in flooding.

A conservative estimate of the damage is $50 million covering 43 counties, the governor said. He added:

"The President's action will permit implementation of a statewide relief program. Col. Robert Ritz, deputy director of the Civil Defense Agency, will be the coordinating officer along with William Goldberg, the governor's counsel."

"They will work with Robert Tuesday as an associate advisor of the Explorer Post, Bilbrey, who served two terms as president, did not seek re-election.

E. Connor, regional director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, which is the federal coordinating agency.

"In order to facilitate relief, we will be setting up field operations in stricken areas."

"The state will do everything it can to ease the problems and suffering brought on by this catastrophe."

HOUSE RANSACKED

THE SCHERMER BULLETIN

We really did fine with our 89c round steak sale last week. As a matter of fact we cleaned up all the steaks. They were all sale priced and we saw many thrifty shoppers buying some "for the freezer."

So how do you top that? Well, today, we start "No limit, no purchase required" frying chickens at 38c per lb. Another low block busting price at Schermer. You can't say that we don't try.

We also have some new Hams on sale and we are cutting them so that your unit cost will be low. They are fully cooked Nesbitt Hams. These are new in our area, but we have sampled them and we say that Nesbitt is making the best ham around. Try a piece for that old fashioned country flavor.

Another new item: Cooked Crab at 89c per lb.

We scooped the market last week with strawberries at 59c a quart. If you shopped elsewhere and paid 78c you were had. These big savings are what we like to come up with . . . and we do.

Noticed quite a few more young marrieds coming to Schermers. You can't take it away from the younger generation. THEY KNOW WHERE THE GOOD BUYS ARE. The funny thing about it is, that most of them tell us they made their own test; they shopped all over AND THEN CAME BACK TO SCHERMERS. GREAT . . . REALLY GREAT!!!

As 'Law Day' Approaches, Watergate Participants, Drug Agents Raise Questions About Federal Devotion to Concept of Justice

It is ironic that as the Quad-Cities and nation prepare to observe "Law Day" tomorrow, the federal government itself is the storm center of two issues involving apparent disregard of the law.

The Watergate political espionage threatens to spread from those who participated in the break-in to men in high government places who are alleged to have ignored the law while trying to conceal the dimensions of the campaign conspiracy.

Appointment of William D. Ruckelshaus, Environmental Protection Agency director, as temporary acting Federal Bureau of Investigation has won widespread praise because he is known as a man of independence and integrity.

But the FBI, the Justice Department and other agencies have been placed under such a dark cloud that President Nixon must promptly take sweeping remedial steps of an unprecedented nature if public confidence is to be restored.

No basis for state delay on Airport Authority funds

Illinois House Appropriations Committee delay of a $712,500 appropriation for the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority is unjustified at this crucial point in the effort to establish a major metropolitan airport at Waterloo-Columbia.

As Airport Authority Executive Director Arven H. Saunders points out, "Rare is the agency able to return much of its annual appropriation, and yet 48% of the current $1,150,000 will

Illinois area composed of many widely separated communities

For many years, St. Louis newspapers have tarred the entire Illinois metropolitan region with a wide brush, utilizing an "east side" label particularly in crime reports. Although many of the communities are far removed from other communities, headlines have implied that violence in one involved them all.

A St. Louis headline yesterday proclaimed, "Missouri U. and SIU put on censure list." The first paragraph related that "two nearby universities were among 11 institutions censured by the American Association of University Professors at the group's 59th annual meeting in St. Louis."

From this it might be assumed that one of the universities was Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. But Considerable public concern also has developed in this region over abusive tactics used by federal narcotics agents who forced their way into two Collinsville homes and terrorized the innocent families April 23.

"That the raids took place at the 'wrong' homes, with an inadequate explanation and the federal investigation which has been started is richly deserved."

While the Drug Abuse Law Enforcement agents had an arrest warrant, the net effect of their misinformation and conduct appears to border on the criminal. The same unit made another mistaken identification in October, injuring and jailing an innocent man as a drug pusher.

In each of these three drug cases, failure to identify themselves as officers was a major contributing factor to circumstances which can only be viewed as outrageous.

Oh, yes, The Law Day slogan for 1973 is "Help your courts — assure justice."

Authority funds

be returned to the state treasury. Funds returned in the 1972 and 1971 fiscal years totaled 38% and 83%.

"While the process of qualifying a major airport for federal approval is time-consuming and expensive, requiring compliance with new laws and response to unpredictable actions, the Authority has endeavored always to follow prudent management practices and make expenditures only for essential items."

It wasn't. The school actually assailed for denying faculty tenure to a political activist was Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

All of which would seem to be a further argument for finding a new name for one of the two SIU campuses, each of which has its own president. And, we suppose, somebody still might call them both "east side."

Some who claim to be "up to their ears in work" are just lying down on the job.

Work precedes success in every place in life but the dictionary.

Apartments, industrial parks, new roads proposed

Residential - commercial - industrial development and transportation plans are among the topics covered in the Madison County Regional Planning Commission's proposed comprehensive land use plan, which is expected to be considered by the County Board May 16.

The plan notes that single-family residential dwellings are anticipated to continue to be the predominant housing type within the county.

Although single-family homes will predominate, the amount of land and the number of dwelling units classified as multi-family are expected to increase as a percentage of residential land use and of the total housing inventory.

The plan proposes that these low-density residential uses be consolidated whenever possible so that outward expansion of such uses be located in proximity to existing urban areas to benefit from existing urban services.

Medium - density residential land uses are proposed in those locations where similar housing conditions, transportation access and urban services exist or will be provided.

This residential use is a more intensive use of the land and should be located in proximity to those services and conveniences necessary for daily living.

Medium - density residential uses may be apartments, mobile home parks or subdivisions, or planned unit developments incorporating multiple dwellings and other residential types, it is related.

High - density residential uses are located within the county at places providing a variety of specific locational advantages.

Locational factors important to high-density uses include good access to major traffic arteries, availability of convenience shopping, increased urban services as population density increases and availability of recreational opportunities.

Keeping with these requirements, high-density areas are located in all instances within urban or urbanizing areas.

High-density residential use would be apartments, condominiums or other multiple dwelling structures.

Commercial land uses have a prime locational requirement of transportation and pedestrian accessibility.

Convenience, attractiveness and a full range of products and/or services are essential to maintain a strong commercial area, it is asserted.

Regional commercial areas like the Belt Line (Illinois 111) in Alton, the intersection of Illinois Highways 141 and 240 in Granite City area are developing as major commercial areas and are proposed to continue in those areas.

Other commercial areas within municipalities are related more directly to municipal plans, although the proposed county plan recommends an expansion of their respective areas, products and personal services.

Commercial development within municipalities must additionally be cognizant of the comprehensive effects of strip commercial development or of ill-planned and poorly located shopping centers, it is pointed out.

Major industrial land uses are proposed within those areas currently having a major industrial base or in those places where locational advantages are considered significant.

Considerable industrial acre has been provided in the proposed plan in an effort to maximize the choice of industrial locations.

Major industrial locations include the Granite City, Alton, Bethalto and Roxana areas and lands adjacent to the intersection of Interstates 270 and 70-55 just west of Troy.

Washington — Will Republicans be wearing Watergate? But the political chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, like much of the Grand Old Party here, grows more concerned and anxious by the hour.

"I regret that it took him this long to realize that this was not getting the straight dope," Michel said as the White House staff began sending out increasing signs of panic.

"He's never served well if he doesn't get the bad news and the good news take care of itself."

Rep. Bob Wilson of California was Michel's longtime predecessor in the GOP campaign chair.

Robert H. Michel of Peoria devoutly hopes Nixon has not waited too long.

Hot Tip—chalk colt with the acey, deucey raspberry jockey is stayer

It's Kentucky Derby time again, ushering in another season of horse racing highlights which also will include the Belmont and Preakness.

An explanation of race track jargon may be welcomed by those who have just a passing interest in the "sport of kings."

Gertrude Stein decided that "a rose is a rose is a rose," and a horse undeniably is a horse is a horse by any name.

But among racing aficionados the word "horse" when applied to a thoroughbred is correct only for a male animal five years old or more.

Through his fourth year, he is called a colt.

The female of the species is a filly until the age of five, when she becomes a mare.

On becoming a mother, she is termed a broodmare or dam.

A mare becomes a matron upon beginning to raise a foal with a stallion. When one of her offspring becomes a winner, she is termed a producer.

A stallion or stud is a horse that has been retired from racing and makes up housekeeping with a mare. He becomes a sire only when one of his offspring wins a race.

Prior to his first birthday, to avoid confusion, is universally established, Jan. 1 of each year, a thoroughbred is known as a foal.

After his first New Year's Day he is a yearling and, following Jan. 1, he becomes a two-year-old and is eligible to race.

Whatever it is, racing has a word for it.

For instance, Acey Deucey is a style of riding in which the jockey uses a much longer stirrup on the left or inside leg.

Daily is a horse that breaks in front and sets the pace. This manner of running was said to be the principal tactic followed into jockeyry by "Father Bill" Daily, a colorful trainer prior to the turn of the century.

Typically, track lingo has it that a chalk horse is the favorite or most heavily played horse in a race. This term originated with bookmakers when the odds were chalked on slates.

"In the money" refers to the order of finish. Horses finishing the first, second or third are so categorized.

The area at the race track where the horses are saddled and viewed prior to the race is the paddock.

Racing parlance also says that to scratch a horse is to withdraw him from the race. A stayer is a horse that runs well at longer distances.

Every horse is a maiden until it wins its first race.

"Colors" is a term referring to the jockey's silk or nylon blouse and cap provided by the owner. Distinctive colors are registered by the owner with the Jockey Club and with the various state racing authorities.

Although the spectators have themselves become a colorful part of the annual early May spectacle, you won't necessarily see anyone at this year's Kentucky Derby sporting an outfit of pink, Alice-blue, raspberry-berried and pink.

However, such a visual phenomenon is not entirely outside the realm of possibility. And you may see a jockey wearing "silk," featuring colors in the not-so-distant future.

In the early years of racing there were many horses competing (two-horse races were often a necessity), so it was easy to tell the animals apart by color, or pink, or teal blue.

As the sport grew in popularity, entries became so numerous that it was difficult for judges and spectators to pick out a particular horse—especially in a close finish.

Remember your mother-in-law's last visit? She had a headache from the bus ride and you had no aspirin. Then your son fell and scraped his knee, a half-hour after you used up all the cotton gauze making a costume for the school play. And what next? Your hand came home, chafed with a "friend" the flu like. So then the car wouldn't start, but it didn't matter because the drug store was closed anyway.

Well, you might not have been able to avert all of these crises. Still, you could have been better prepared. According to Howard C. McFerson, M.D., chairman of the American Academy of Pediatrics' Committee on Accident Prevention, being prepared means having on hand a fresh supply of medications for treating common ailments.

Here's what Dr. McFerson suggests be kept in the home for meeting most ordinary family emergencies:

• Petroleum jelly, as a soothing ointment.

• Gauze compresses, tape, and Band-Aids.

• Rectal thermometer (rectal for children to age seven).

• Nose drops, in small containers and dosage.

• Cough control and expectorant compound containing glycerol, codeine.

• Small bottle of regular aspirin and one 36-tablet bottle of aspirin (these are for children in the house).

• Syrup of Ipecac to induce vomiting in case of an overdose of medicine or poisoning (There are some poisonings where use of Ipecac is contraindicated; read the label carefully before using).

The doctor also recommends having available a bathroom scale to measure any dehydration of diarrhea patients (children especially should not lose more than 10 percent of their body weight or the result could be serious).

Also, a written summary of the children's allergies and drug sensitivities, and a folder on emergency procedures (available from the American Academy of Pediatrics, 1801 Human Ave., Evanston, Ill. 60201). A preparation containing kaolin and pectin to control very mild diarrhea can also be kept on hand.

But Dr. McFerson cautions, all medications do have the same effect on all people. He advises using them only when absolutely necessary, reading the instructions carefully—and following them.

Also, says the doctor, make sure the medications will be there when needed. Medicine chests, he says, are for toothpaste and cosmetics. First aid supplies should be kept in locked, dark places, specifically earmarked for that purpose, so that medication meant to help heal isn't accidentally used to poison.

Michel obviously watches this with a sense of foreboding. For no matter what the President does to recoup, vital time has been lost in which the air could have been at least partly cleared of Watergate.

If the President early on lurks at seriously the ludicrous cloak-and-dagger break-in, the exposure of the conspiracy layer by Jayer would not have been the protracted agony it is for rank-and-file Republicans who had nothing to do with the affair.

Much of this is as implicit in Michel's aggrieved note as it is in what he says explicitly.

"It's too bad it has gone on so long," says the congressman, who must try to steer House Republicans to a majority through potentially troubled waters in 1974. "It tends to hurt the President and the party."

Michel does not want to prejudge anyone, though he is all but a primary judgmental proponent of what will "let the chips fall where they may."

He worries most that Watergate will "divide into the courts next year and beyond."

Should this happen, Watergate may still be creating headlines while Republican incumbents and new candidates campaign for House seats. They will wonder if their tardy party chief gave them an albatross.

Energy crisis ends comfortable assumptions of past

The shape of a national energy policy for the United States begins to emerge in the series of proposals sent to Congress by President Nixon affecting consumption of oil, gas and coal.

Reached to its simplest terms, the policy might go something like this: our country can avert a serious energy crisis if it is willing to pay a substantial price.

The price, moreover, will be reckoned both in dollars and cents and in reconciliation of our environmental goals with some inarguable realities stemming from our voracious appetite for fuel.

Lifting quotas on oil imports will bring more foreign fuel into the U.S. and help alleviate the prospect of a gasoline shortage this summer and another pinch in heating oil supplies next winter.

However, it will not prevent an upward trend in prices.

Such a policy may focus attention on better conservation and management of energy, the development of alternate power sources, nuclear energy, and possibly alternatives to clean-burning fuel. But the exploration and production costs will be reflected in prices the consumer pays.

Our domestic fuel production also will be increased under the President's proposal to open more off-shore areas for oil and gas development, but the step could lead to a reduction in coal burning.

Also, our plentiful coal reserves can continue to supply fuel to power plants, but only by postponing the achievement of air quality standards which demand a reduction in coal burning.

Such steps all deserve serious consideration if our energy demands and our fuel resources immediately at hand are to be kept in balance.

They remain, however, only a starting point for a comprehensive energy policy.

The "true cost" of the energy we derive from fossil fuels now confronting us and is destined to affect our lives significantly in the years ahead.

the bus and private car as modes of personal transportation.

The proposals now before Congress will serve as a basis for that broader attack on the energy problem simply because they carry an economic and environmental price tag.

They help guide us away from the comfortable assumption that energy will always be as plentiful and cheap as it has been in the past.

The President pointed out, "the single most effective means of encouraging energy conservation is to ensure that energy prices reflect their true costs."

There was a time when the American people could count on an abundance of fuel resources around them that they looked at a household appliance or a car in terms of the cost of buying it rather than the cost of running it.

The "true cost" of the energy we derive from fossil fuels now confronting us and is destined to affect our lives significantly in the years ahead.

Efforts toward reorganization of 34 school districts in north-eastern Madison County into a community unit district have aroused opposition and may be delayed.

A Madison County School Survey Committee made the proposal. Consolidations fit this area also are under consideration. Unless such steps are taken, the legislature may adopt laws for community uniting of districts into community units.

This situation prompted the Jockey Club, meeting at Newmarket, England, in November 1925, to pass the following resolution:

"For the greater convenience of distinguishing the horses in running, and also for the prevention of disputes arising from not knowing the colors of each rider, the undermentioned have come to the resolution and agreement of having the colors annexed to their names, worn by their respective riders."

The 17 prominent sportsmen who attended the meeting were the first to register their silks. Six of them were dukes, one a marquis, five were earls, one a viscount, and there were one lord, one knight and two commoners.

His Royal Highness, the Duke of Cumberland, made the first choice—purple jacket and black cap.

Since then it has been required of each horseman that he register his silks with the Jockey Club, which has designated 24 jacket designs and 11 silks of color and design which owners' selected colors are to be worked to produce a unique set of silks.

Owners just getting into racing have often found it difficult to come up with something new, since thousands of combinations of color and design already have been spoken for.

Down through the years, they have gradually solved the dilemma by coming up with variations of colors.

Red is now broken down into shades of Harvard red, scarlet, flame, raspberry and flamingo. Green comes in mint, bottle, cedar, jade and cobalt.

Blue appears in shades called teal, Alice, sky, Maui and cobalt.

Owners' new shades have opened the door for new combinations of color and design.

Thus, with an average of about 600 new sets of silks registered each year, it doesn't take long to exhaust the possibilities, putting a strain on the imagination of new owners.

Every track announcer appreciates the brightly colored silks which he calls out as the horses come in as the fans sit at the track.

By memorizing the colors of each owner, he is able to keep track of two horses while calling the race. If he tried to keep numbers, they'd sometimes be lost.

Racing parlance also says that to scratch a horse is to withdraw him from the race. A stayer is a horse that runs well at longer distances.

She also reported the Nearly New Clothing Center, sponsored by Quad-City Church Women United, will be relocated at the Salvation Army Building, 1239 Nineteenth St., from its present quarters at Co-ordinated Youth Services office.

An orientation meeting on operations at the center was attended by the society's president, it was reported.

Programs for the summer months were reviewed by Mrs. Blankenship and it was decided to attend the Barn dinner Theatre at Ellisville, Mo., Aug. 12, to see the stage production "Mary, Mary."

Mrs. Deloris Hoy and Mrs. Dot Hanne were co-hostesses for the social hour and served a dessert course from a table covered with a yellow cloth and illuminated with two candelabra holding tall blue tapers. The centerpiece was a Madonna statue surrounded with Easter lilies.

'Free bridge' free

The MacArthur Bridge between East St. Louis and St. Louis will cease the collection of tolls Tuesday and will become what it has been popularly termed since its construction, the "free bridge." The bridge was completed in 1918 as a toll free facility but tolls became necessary in 1932. The salaries of the 10 collectors recently have outweighed the income from tolls, resulting in the city deciding to drop the tolls.

Bike-A-Thon planned to aid diabetic children

The Great River Riders Bicycle Club will conduct a Bike-A-Thon from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday to benefit the Diabetic Children's Welfare Association. In case of rain, it will be held the following day.

Riders may obtain entry forms and sponsor sheets at McDonald's Restaurant on Johnson Road. They are to solicit sponsors willing to pledge money for each mile a rider travels.

An eight-mile route will be available after June 1.

Wilderness weekend set for maladjusted boys

A wilderness camping weekend to explore rehabilitation possibilities for maladjusted pre-adolescent boys is scheduled May 4-6 by six students and faculty members of the Special Education Department of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and 12 boys with behavioral problems from the public schools of Madison County.

Thomas M. Shea, coordinator of the Special Education Center at SIUE, said the group will participate in a three-day camping and back-packing trip at Berryman Trail, Clark National Forest, Potosi, Mo. Dividing into teams of six each, the men and boys will establish a base camp, back-pack and prepare all meals. Participants will prepare and carry all needed material and equipment.

Part of a pilot research project funded through a grant from the SIUE Graduate School, the wilderness camping expedition was initiated with a one-day hike on April 13 at Belk Park in Wood River. The group participated in a six-mile hike and cooked the noon meal. All needed gear was carried by back-pack.

Phase three of the wilderness camping project will be a nine-day camping and back-packing trip in Clark National Forest. A base camp will be established at YMCA Camp Lakewood, and the back-packing will be along the Berryman Trail, which is more than 30 miles long.

Shea said the purpose of the pilot project is to study new approaches to rehabilitation for pre-adolescent boys and severely disturbed children. He pointed out that in wilderness camping, the participants are dependent on each other. "We hope to determine if an environment which creates interdependence by its very nature, results in a measurable change in attitude of adolescent toward each other and adults," he said.

Shea indicated that written and pictorial records will be kept, including any behavioral incidents which are disruptive. All data will be collected and analyzed for presentation in a descriptive report.

Shea explained that "the rehabilitation of pre-adolescent maladjusted youth is one of the most critical problems confronting the mental health professions in the United States. Thousands of pre-adolescents are in chronic difficulty in their schools and communities. Effective therapeutic programs have not been developed for this age group, and the effectiveness of traditional counseling, special class placements, and institutionalization is of questionable validity."

"The wilderness camping program will permit an intensive period of study of preadolescent behaviors by both instructors and students in training," Shea added.

Three SIUE students and three members of the faculty will accompany the 12 youths on the trips.

The results of the project will be submitted for publication to professional journals, magazines and news media. A slide presentation will be developed for convention and lecture presentations.

Postmaster General E. T. Klassen as a time for "recognition of the vital responsibilities assigned to the mail service" begins today in the Quad-City area.

In announcing the schedule of the week's activities, Postmasters W. T. Overbeck of Granite City, William Clinton of Madison and Charlie Simmons of Venice noted the postmaster general's statement that this week is a valid time "to take stock of the challenges which must be jointly met by postal people and by the millions of citizens throughout America who depend upon the mail as an essential part of their personal and business lives."

The week's activities will be highlighted today with Postal People Day observances at the local post offices, during which ten stamps honoring the postal people who serve America will be issued for the first time.

Postmasters at the three post offices said that all postal customers visiting the post office today and Tuesday will be given free souvenir envelopes printed with special cachets, so long as a limited supply lasts. If customers desire, they may purchase First Day Covers, featuring ten 8-cent stamps, for the 80 cents face value of the stamps.

"The Congress of the United States and the President, by proclamation, have set aside May 1st, Tuesday, as a special day of celebration by the American people in appreciation of their liberties."

"Our country has prospered for nearly 200 years with constantly expanding liberty because our common law tradition provides for gradual, orderly, and peaceful change in our institutions."

"It is to the courts that the individual citizen goes to seek redress and secure justice, not as a matter of privilege but as a matter of right."

"Our courts were created and exist, not only to determine according to law disputes between individuals, but also to determine according to law disputes between the individual and his government."

"The observance of Law Day is fitting because it underscores the continuing role of the law and the courts in achieving equitable solutions to on-going problems, including racism, poverty, environmental pollution, consumer rights, and many other issues of public concern and import."

"It is good to be reminded that the year that the Law can be relevant and progressive."

"Now, therefore, we, Donald Partney, Mike Sasyk and John E. Lee, mayors of Granite City, Madison and Venice, do hereby join in proclaiming Tuesday, May 1, 1973, as Law Day U.S.A. in these communities and urge all citizens, organizations and schools to give appropriate recognition to this special day."

$95 BICYCLE STOLEN

Carla Davis, 2821 Sunset Drive, reported last week that while she and a friend were talking at St. Margaret Mary's Church, a young boy jumped on her 10-speed bicycle valued at $95 and rode away, saying he would be back, and did not return.

BURGLARIZE HOUSE

Two tape players, a radio, a camera, an electric can opener and a hair dryer were stolen from the home of Vernon Wilson, 1029-Bissell St., Venice, it was reported last week. Entry was gained by breaking the glass in the rear door.

FORGET IT AND IGNORE IT!

This is the wisest route to follow whenever a well-meaning friend or relative—who does not have a medical degree—offers you some "advice" on how to treat an illness without having to bother calling a doctor. Such advice is almost always incorrect, even though it is offered with the best of intentions.

By heeding a friend's "medical advice" and not going to a doctor, you could lose much valuable time in getting the proper treatment for your condition. Today's doctors spend many, many years in medical school and in internship before they become qualified to practice medicine. And unless your friend has had identical training and experience, you should forget and ignore his advice and contact a doctor instead.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

May 1, 1973 could go down as one of the most important days in American history.

If, on May 1, the American people respond to the challenge of solving the problems in our judicial system, America's future might be a whole lot brighter.

Because, in many parts of the country, our courts are bursting at the seams.

Caseloads have doubled and tripled over the past 10 years. The waiting period for cases to come to trial is often years. There are too few judges, underpaid court staffs, inadequate facilities.

In short, the courts need help. From the legal profession, from the legislatures, from the public.

This year, Law Day focuses upon the problems and opportunities of our judicial system.

On May 1st, join Americans everywhere in observing Law Day to learn how you can help.
